Facility Management Association Vice-Chairman Resigns

The Facility Management Association of Australia Limited (FMA Australia) today announced the resignation of long standing Director, Ms Kerry Lodge. Ms Lodge has resigned to devote more time to her expanding business interests.

“This has been a difficult decision for me and one I have not taken lightly,” she said.

Ms Lodge also added “I have enjoyed a marvellous association with FMA Australia and remain a committed member”.

Ms Lodge has been a Director of FMA Australia, the professional body representing Australia’s leading facility managers, for nearly four years with the last eighteen months as Vice Chairman, and has served on a number of State and National Committees’ over the past decade. Ms Lodge chaired the organising committee for FMA Australia’s recently held annual conference, judged to be the most successful ever held.

FMA Australia Chairman, Stephen Ballesty, paid tribute to the substantial contribution Ms Lodge has made. “Kerry is respected within the FM industry and has been an enthusiastic and constructive contributor to the Association for many years. Her experience and commitment on the Board will be sorely missed,” he said.
