

NSW Branch March Lunch

The Importance of Independent Commercial Property Advice

Do you trust the commercial property advice you are currently receiving?

As a tenant are you well represented in the commercial property field?

Do you have good clauses in your contracts, or do they come back to haunt you at the end of the term?

The world of commercial property touches the FM industry in many ways and to help understand the myths and unravel the red tape, our guest speaker Alyson Freeman - National Business Development Manager - Rawlinsons CRE has over 20 years experience in finance, insurance and commercial property solutions, combined with a broad understanding of all aspects of Project Management and has extensive experience in tenant representation on a national basis.

Alyson has represented significant clients over many years and brings a significant depth of knowledge and expertise in fostering ongoing client relationships and furthering property requirements.

Did you know that an independent advisor can save you time and money, which will keep you focused on your core business?

Having someone represent your company and their brand in the market and ensuring you receive the best incentive is certainly going to help your business.

Now is the time to ask those questions you have always wanted to know about the myths surrounding Commercial Property, and hear a few scenarios that may just be familiar to you!
