About FMA Australia

Established in 1988, the Facility Management Association of Australia (FMA Australia) is the peak national body for facilities management, representing and supporting professionals and organisations responsible for the management, operation and maintenance of buildings, precincts and community infrastructure.

With the support of Branch Committees around Australia, FMA Australia provides a range of services including information and networking events, education, learning and professional development opportunities, industry research and development, professional standards development for skills and competency, and proactive partnering at all levels of government.

A primary focus of FMA Australia in representing the facilities management industry is to ensure that the needs of facilities managers are understood and considered in government and business policy formulation and decision making.

FMA Australia is a founding partner of Global FM, which enables members to enjoy a productive relationship with its allied membership organisations from around the world. FMA Australia is also a member of leading industry bodies such as the Australian Sustainable Built Environment Council (ASBEC).

FMA Australia believes governments at all levels should seek to empower all Australians to reach their full potential through the provision of quality and sustainable built environments.
